Third Day of the Three-Ball Tour-

Messrs. Cyrille Dion and Joe Dion Each One, and Vignaux Two Games.

RUDOLPHE BADLY BEATEN.

The tournament yesterday afternoon was attended by nearly a thousand spectators, a larger number than were ever before induced to attend day and the seventh of the series was between Cyrille Dion and Rudolphe. The latter, as usual, nade himself intensely disagreeable, and when he found that he was getting beat claimed a count that he never made, and then disputed the referee's decision on the matter. Cyrille did not exhibit any very remarkable play until the seventh inning, when he ran 41, which he followed on the tenth by 73. Rudolphe was literally never in the game, Cyrille beating him just as he pleased. The following is a

The next game was between Daniels and Vigmany. Daniels broke the balls, and, failing to count, Vignaux went in and scored 2. Then Daniels took the cue and ran 16 under very bad luck, as the balls were not running his way. On the fifth innings Vignaux rolled up 53, which left

The champion of Mussachusetts then got the balls together and manipulated them for 28. In the eight and ninth innings Vignaux worked pretty hard, adding 42 and 20 to his score. At the close of the tenth innings the game stood VIGNAUX 143, DANIELS 70.

The sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth inlings were magnificently played by both men, and especially so by Vignaux, who, after running 98, broke down on a masse just when he looked like making the biggest run in the tournament. Daniels averaged 27 in his three last innings, but could not make up the lost ground in time, as Vignaux went out on the eighteenth. The foliowing is the score of the game:—

THE EVENING.

The svening session was opened by Joe Dion and Slosson, and they had the gratification of playing before as fine an audience as ever patronized a billiard match. The ladies mustered pretty strong, as if they rather liked this new recreation that has been opened to them. Director Gavitt called game at six minutes past eight and slosson broke the balls, making 6 in the first inning. Dion then made 2, Slosson following with 3, after which Joe 1an 12. On the fifth inning Slosson made 12, which he followed in quick succession by 17, 54 and 14, an exhibition of play that raised him considerably in the estimation of billiard experts. Joe Dion then went to work, and getting the balls along the side cushion he nursed them carefully, driving slowly to the top of the table, where, after bringing them backwards and forwards once or twice, he missed an easy carrom, but not before he had beat his big run of Wednesday, and added lift to his score. At the close of the eighth inning the game stood Dion, 144; slosson, 169.

Slosson made 2 in the next inning and left the balls for Joe near the side cushion, He manipulated them very prettily, but finally broke down on a masse after scoring 65. On the eleventh inning Slosson made 11 and Joe followed with 6. Both men then let up for a little, but on the eighteenth inning Joe bion worked the ivories in artistic style, rolling up 55 and leaving himself at to go. In the next two innings slosson ran 12 and 19. Dion made the winning shot on the twentieth linning. The score of the game is as follows:

Joe Dion—2, 12, 3, 0, 2, 9, 5, 111, 65, 1, 6, 3, 6, 2, 1, 0, 1, 65, 5, 1—300.

Time of game—One hour and eighteen minutes.

Before Vignanx and Daly measured their strength Director Gavitt announced that the prizes would be as follows:—

First, championship—Gold emblem, value six hundred dollars, and cash, eight hundred dollars.

Second—Six hundred dollars cash.

Third—Four hundred dollars cash.

Pourth—Two hundred and firly dollars cash.

Pitth—Two hundred and firly dollars cash.

Highest average—Handsome gold watch.

Highest run—Handsome gold watch.

Game was called at 9:40, and Maurice Daly broke the balls, but failed to count. Vignaux then rolled up 15, to which he added 24 on the third inning. Daly did not make a very brilliant start, and anneared a little nervous, studied the poly.

Game was called at $140, and Maurice Daly broke the balls, but latled to count. Vignaux then rolled up 15, to which he added 24 on the third inning. Daly did not make a very brilliant start, and appeared a little nervous, studying his shots a good deal. The play for the next few innings was rather light on both sides, so much so that it was rumored around "they were both afraid." On the inthi inning Maurice rolled up 23, which Vignaux followed in the tenth by 13. On the thirteenth Vignaux secred 19, and Daly did a little aursing along the side cusoion that added 52 to his score. Vignaux then manipulated the balls for a short time, making another 19. At the close of the fourteenth inning the game stood:—

VIGNAUX, 114; DALY, 104.

Both men then exhibited signs of weakness in the two succeeding innings, but on the seventeenth the big Frenchman ran forty-one, and on his forty-second Daly appealed to the referce. Mr. Bryant could not have been watching the game, as he said, "No count," when the shot in question was a most unquestionable count, and seen by at least three-quarters of the spectators. The Frenchman duot like it, but after speaking to Mr. Delancy, accepted the situation and entered protest, according to the eleventh rule, which leaves such matters to be decided by the Court of Adjudication. It was unfortunate that Mr. Bryant had not been watching, as up to that time not a voice had been raised against a decision he made, except from a growler that nobody paid any attention to. The balis were all in a neap, and Daly ran 21, which Vignaux followed by its. The latter was evidently considerably shaken in his opinion of American square-scaling, and looked as if he thought the boys were giving mim a brace. On the twenty-first inning Daly played a good run of 65, and at the close of the twenty-first inning the game stood

DALY, 198; Vignaux, 195.

The spectators were now getting considerably excited, as this was the closest game that had been played during the tournament. On the twenty-third hanning Daly playe

A UNITED STATES SAILOR SENTENCED IN

THE SANDWICH ISLANDS. [From the Honotulu Advertiser, October 17.] The trial of William Morrow, a seaman attached to the United States steamer Benicla, charged tratte on the 15th of August last, commenced on the 9th inst. in the Supreme Court, before a foreign jury. The trial occupied the most of the day, and the jury, after several hours' consultation, failed to agree and were discharged. On Saturday morning a new jury was impanelled and the case retried, when a verdict was returned of guilty under the second count of the indictment, which was for "an assault with a weapon obviously and imminently cangerous to life." The prisoner was thereupon sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and be imprisoned for a term of ten days. tue 9th inst. in the Supreme Court, before a foreign

THE ELECTION DAY MURDER.

oremer Croker at the Verkville Police Court-He Procures a Warrant for James O'Brien.

The great event at the Yorkville Police Court yesterday morning was the arraignment of Richard Croker, one of the four Coroners of this city and county, who came to Court accompanied by Captain irving, in whose custody he was, John Kelly, Colonel Fellows and Coroner Woltwho entered the Court almost unobserved. They went direct to the Judge's private room, where they awaited His Honor's Dleasure. At this Court the regular police returns take precedence of all other business, no matter how important, and these having been disposed of Judge Murray opened Court in his private room for the hearing of Mr. Croker's case. Ex-Sheriff James O'Brien, the complainant, was not present. It will be remembered that the complaint entered against the defendant was simply one for felonious assault on John McKenna. His death having since occurred the present charge merges into that of murder or complicity therein, upon which the defendants, John Sheridan and the two Hickeys have been arrested and held to bail by Coroner Woltman in $20,000 each. This view of the matter having been presented to the Court by Colonel Fellows, his Honor replied that if amdavits were made proving the demise of the person named. John McKenna, mentioned in the amdavit of the complainant, Mr. O'Brien, he would turn the matter over into the hands of ingly made by Coroner Woltman and others.

Coroner Woltman. Such depositions were accord-A COMPLAINT AGAINST O'BRIEN. The charge against Coroner Croker having been disposed of by being turned over to Coroner Woltman, Mr. John Kelly inquired of the Court concerning the charge by James O'Brien for felonious assault against George Hickey. The latter, Mr. Kelly said, is a clerk in the Superior Court, and it

Kelly said, is a clerk in the Superior Court, and it is not easy for him to be present when the Court might want him, but if a day and hour was set for an examination into the charge against him he would be present.

The Court said that until the accused was before him in the regular way he would take no action whatever regarding the case.

Coroner Woltman said he supposed that O'Brien was alive yet. (Laughter.) The Court replied that he did not know, but he supposed if the gentleman was dead he (Coroner Woltman) would take as good care of him as he has done of his friend, poor McKenna. The party then arose from their chairs and were about to leave. Mr. Kelly asked if it would not be proper for the Coroner to take out a warrant for the arrest of James O'Brien. The Court acquiescing,

THE COMPLAINT OF MR. CROKER

was taken, as follows:—

Richard Croker, of No. 347 Lexington avenue, being

THE COMPLAINT OF MR. CROKER

Was taken, as follows:—
Richard Croker, of No. 347 Lexington avenue, being duly sworn, deposes and says:—That ou the 3d day of November, 1874, he was violently assaulted and beaten by James O'Brien; that said O'Brien struck deponent one blow in deponent's face with his clinched fist without any justification on the part of said O'Brien. Wherefore deponent prays that the said O'Brien may be apprehended and bound to an swer for the above assault and be deait with according to law.

RICHARD CROKER.

A warrant was then issued and placed in the hands of Capitali Irving, who will make a return to it as soon as possible.

The party then left the Court, Coroner Croker of course being at liberty, he having aiready given bonds for his appearance at the inquest on McKenna.

Coroner Croker at His Office.

About eleven o'clock yesterday morning Coroner Croker appeared at the Coroner's office, at the corner of Mulberry and Houston streets. He denied most emphatically that he had been keeping out of the way to avoid arrest, on the charge of complicity in the McKenna murder, as had been reported by some of the New York journals. The Coroner said he had been before Justice Murray. of the Yorkville Police Court, who withdrew the warrant which a day or two since had been issued for his arrest.

In relation to the shooting of McKenna, Coroner Croker denied knowing anything whatever about it, and reiterated what he had positively asserted before, that he had no pistol in his possession on before, that he had no pistol in his possession on the morning of the fatal occurrence; that he never carried a pistol in his life, which he would be able to prove by competent witnesses.

The Coroner admits striking O'Brien twice in the lace with his fist, immediately after which promiscous discharge of pistols commenced, and after the snooting was over he saw McKenna lying on the sidewalk. He further asserts that O'Brien, with a gang of outlaws, was roaming through that Congressional district for the purpose of breaking up the polling booths and destroying the ballots of his competitor, in order that he (O'Brien) might receive the certificate of election. Mr. Croker seems to have entire confidence of establishing his innocence during the investigation before Coroner Woltman, which is named for Monday morning next.

morning next.

Coroner Woltman has summoned about thirty witnesses to testify in the matter, and there may be others to come forward and give their testimony.

BISHOP BACON.

Transportation of the Remains to Portland-Arrangements for the Funeral.

During all the day yesterday the remains of the late Right Rev. Bishop Bacon, of Maine, reposed in the strictest simplicity in the hospitable home of the Sisters of Mercy in Twelfth street, who conduct the St. Vincent's Hospital in Eleventh street, the St. Vincent's Hospital in Eleventh street, the had been brought to the door of the kind Sisters on Wednesday evening in an ambulance from the French steamer, with only the least remnants of hie in him, just the last sands in his long career of piety and usefulness. He could not have fallen into more sympathetic hands. All that affectionate gentleness could do was essayed by his assiduous nurses to alleviate the mortal pains of the battle between an active disease and the worn-out energies of a man who for sixty years had almost constantly overworked himself for the good of others, Doctors Wood, Kerrigan and Phelps, the conventing of the strength of During all the day yesterday the remains of the active disease and the worn-out energies of a man who for sixty years had almost constantly overworked himself for the good of others. Doctors Wood, Kerrigan and Pheips, the consulting physicians of the hospital, came to see him; but they at once pronounced him beyond the reach of remedial measures, and the dying man was thenceforth left to the tender care of the Sisters and the Christian consolations of the attending clergyman, who were constant in their ministrations till death orought relief to the racked body and released the pious soul from the prison of clay to soar to celestial triumphs and rewards. Bishop Bacon's body lay yesterday in a plain neat coffin. By its side ourned two candles. He was dressed in his vestments. A silver cross lay in his thin clasped hands on his breast, and another on the sinpers which encased his lect. A plate on the finer surface of the coffin hid bore this inscription:
